FROM THE EDITOR

Since my Kentucky trip in December, I have been busy contacting, meeting and visiting still more members of my father's family who live in this part of the country. We meet each other online or by corresponding, talk on the telephone and plan to get together when we can to talk about family history.

In early February I drove up to Henry County one Sunday morning to meet some of the descendents of Peter Kendall, a hatmaker and surveyor by profession, who came to Tennessee from North Carolina about 1810 and who served in the 12th, 13th, 14th and 17th General Assemblies of the state of Tennessee, representing Stewart and Humphreys counties, then Stewart alone (1817-23) and then Henry and Weakley counties (1827-29). He was known as "Old Pewter Foot," but no one in the family knows why today. Peter at one time owned over 2,000 acres (some sources say 4,000 acres) in the Elkhorn area, not far from the Big Sandy River and southeast of Paris, Tennessee. Family members still have homes and farms on portions of the "old home place." [My ancestor was probably Peter's brother, and came to Lincoln County, Tennessee at about the same time. Peter became the guardian of his six children when he died suddenly in 1821 in north Alabama, and brought the children and their mother back to Henry County not long after that.]

My cousins and I sat around the kitchen table, shared pictures and stories, had lunch and then drove around the area to visit several family cemeteries. One of these is now in the front yard of a lovely new home on a hill (the roads changed when TVA came into Henry County)—and the homeowners have set aside this small area, with tombstones from the 1850's and 1860's, as a garden area, with daffodils beginning to bloom and other plantings. Now, this is what it means to be good neighbors!

My next adventure will probably be another trip to Kentucky—this time, to find out more about my maternal grandmother's family. What a pleasure to meet and be in touch with my cousins!

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

In my "Fall '06" message I stated, "The mission of this new entity is to preserve and share across generations the history and culture of the South, its wit and wisdom, its families and economics. The Society solicits grants of money and gifts of collected material that will help us contribute to the success of this mission." Our last surviving charter member, Lillian Gardiner, has died. In her will she bequeathed to TNGS a generous sum of money to be used, at the discretion of the membership, in pursue of this mission. We are most grateful and will endeavor to use the money wisely.

In 1952, Lillian, husband Lawrence (who also remembered TNGS in his will), Virginia Brooks, and others created a society that has evolved into a significant educational organization. During the last 55-years, with various member-managers, it has wiggled and squirmed like the live animal that it is, but it grows in strength, both in talented volunteers and financially, and continues to serve an ever growing public. Gifts like Lillian's and Lawrence's makes it easier.

The Regional History and Genealogy Center, already user-friendly, will become more so as work stations are added for wireless internet. (Photo of reading room.)

The major events for 2007 are scheduled. (Please see our calendar at www.tngs.org) We will add several special interest events as members identify needs. The intent is to maximize the use of this great research and training facility.

It is very satisfying to see TNGS members nationwide willing to share information about their Tennessee ancestors. We solicit unpublished manuscripts and other collected material relative to genealogy and history. Books will be reviewed in Ansearchin' News if the book is donated to TNGS. After a book is reviewed, it becomes part of the RHGC library.

We have over 300 CDs relative to genealogy and history. These are available at the TNGS office or can be checked-out by local members.

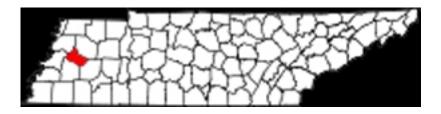

We do appreciate your continued support.

We as your committee would state that we have passed over no persons land without consent except J.A. Medlins. We passed across the corner of said Medlins land a distance of about two hundred yards and following the present wagon way when this has been a wagon way for twenty five or thirty years, and to go around said Medlins land would be some farther and across a hollow twice that would make a road almost impossible for a wagon, and further we do not consider that the road where located would damage the sale of the land one dollar.

We also apportioned the lands on the different roads as directed, on the Masons Grove Road we alloted the same lands that it originally had the Gadsden and Humboldt Road or new road we allotted the lands on the following farms______Dr. Hicks, known as the old Spurier farm, James Cox, G.H. Carroll Beaver, Tennessee Farmer

-Michael A. Ports*

Introduction

The following article is the ninth installment in the continuing series of articles concerning the children of Stephen and Nancy (White) Beaver of Henderson County, Tennessee. Additional articles on the remaining children are planned and underway. The present focus is on the family of Carroll Beaver and his five wives. It is hoped that his descendants and other family researchers will find his story both interesting and informative. It also is hoped that others will step forward with new information, as well as comments, corrections, alternative interpretations, and suggestions for further research.

The story of Carroll Beaver is typical for a farmer in West Tennessee during the nineteenth century. He grew up in rural Henderson County, obtained a modest education, and began farming at a young age. He married and started a family. As his farm prospered, his family grew. The untimely death of his wife left him alone to raise eight young children, manage the household, and operate the family farm. His children needed a mother, so Carroll married a second time. Again, his farm prospered and his family grew. The tumultuous days of the Civil War brought strife and economic ruin to much of the South. Carroll lost his investment in slaves. Reconstruction brought political repression, severe taxation, and the death of his second wife. But Carroll remained undeterred as he struggled to rebuild. He married a third time. Again, as his fortune improved, his family grew. In all, Carroll sired at least fourteen children whom he raised to become productive and upstanding members of their communities.

The Early Years

10. Carroll Beaver was born March 1, 1816 in Lincoln County, Tennessee, the son of Stephen and Nancy (White) Beaver. He was a young boy when his family moved to Henderson County circa 1822. It is presumed that he attended the local schools to good effect. Not much is known about his early life, but it is presumed that he learned the art of farming from his father while working on the family farm. Based solely upon the ages of their children, Carroll and his first wife Kizzia were married circa 1837. Because the early records of Henderson County were destroyed when the courthouse burned, no official record of their marriage has survived. While her maiden name is unknown, other records indicate that she was born circa 1816 in Tennessee.

In 1840, the Carroll Beaver household consisted of five individuals.

MalesFemalesOne, under 5 One,between 15 and 20One, between 20 and 30One, between 20 and 30

It seems likely that Carroll and Kizzia are the two oldest members of the household. Their age categories agree with their known birth years. The younger female is presumed to be their daughter Martha. The identity of the younger male is uncertain, but is presumed to be his younger brother Stephen. Carroll, his male slave, aged between 10 and 24 years, and his younger brother were engaged in agriculture. In May 1841, Carril Beaver joined the Middlefork Primitive Baptist Church. He was an active church member and frequently represented his church at association meetings. However, after a time, he became disenchanted with the direction that the congregation was taking. His disagreements with his fellow Baptists grew until he was excluded from membership in December 1857.

Economically, the next decade was good for Carroll and his family. In 1850, he valued his real estate at $800. The census that year lists both Carroll and his wife Kizzia as 34 years old and born in Tennessee. Their children Martha, Henry, Riley, Nancy, Robert, Mary, and Thomas completed their household. Carroll owned six slaves. His slaves consisted of a 26-year-old mulatto female, 24-year-old black female, and four children aged 6, 4, 2, and 2. It is presumed that the children belonged to one or both of his female slaves. By 1850, he had improved only 50 acres of his land. Another 159 acres stood unimproved. In all, his farm was valued at $800. He owned farm implements worth only $50. Also, he owned two horses, one mule, two cows, four cattle, seventy-five sheep, and twenty-four swine, all valued at $286. The previous year, his farm had produced forty-six bushels of wheat, six hundred bushels of corn, three hundred ninety pounds of rice, three bales of cotton, ten pounds of wool, four bushels of peas and beans, twenty-five bushels of sweet potatoes, thirty pounds of butter, $50 in home manufactured goods, and $15 in slaughtered animals.

Keziah Beaver died June 11, 1854. According to her tombstone at the Middle Fork Cemetery, she was born April 14, 1816. No further record of her has been located. The name Riley may be significant. Perhaps it was Kezzia's maiden name. Perhaps it was her mother's maiden name. Perhaps it was a family name handed down through several generations of the family on either the paternal or maternal lines. While the possibilities may seem more or less endless, the name Riley may provide the clue to important new information.

The children of Carroll and Kizzia (_?_) Beaver were:

- 77. i. Martha, born circa 1839 in Henderson County, Tennessee.
- 78. ii. Henry, born circa 1840 in Henderson County, Tennessee.
- 79. iii. Riley Stephen, born March 1, 1841 in Henderson County, Tennessee.
- 80. iv. Nancy, born circa 1844 in Henderson County, Tennessee.
- 81. v. Robert L., born September 1845 in Henderson County, Tennessee.
- 82. vi. Mary A., born circa 1847 in Henderson County, Tennessee.
- 83. vii. Thomas T., born September 14, 1848 in Henderson County, Tennessee.
- 84. viii. Margaret, born circa 1852 in Henderson County, Tennessee.

Remarriage

With a large household to manage, young children to raise, and a growing plantation to oversee, Carroll needed a wife and helpmate. Thus, Carroll married again, probably in late 1853 or early 1854 based solely upon the birth years of their children. In spite of the loss of his first wife, the decade before the Civil War was quite kind to Carroll and his family at least economically. By 1860, he had remarried and his family had grown considerably. His plantation had grown in value and now was worth $2,500. His personal property was valued at $15,000, a not insignificant sum for that period. In fact, few of his neighbors owned as many slaves as did Carroll. His wife Martha, at 33 years of age, was ten years his junior. She was born in Virginia. Nine of his children, Henry, Riley, Robert, Mary, Thomas, Margaret, James, Susan, and Sarah, still lived with them at home. Most of his personal property consisted of his ten slaves. Carroll had two slave houses erected for what appear to be two distinct family groups. His eldest slave was a 35-year-old black male. He also owned two adult females, one 35 years old and one 30 years old. They probably were the same two females that he owned in 1850. The children, all black females, were aged 13, 11, 9, 8, and 6 years and two aged 8 months.

The plantation, valued at $2,500, consisted of 120 improved acres and 240 unimproved acres. Not only had Carroll increased his land holdings from 209 acres to 360 acres, but he also had more than doubled the size of his tillable ground. His farm implements and machinery were valued at $2,500. Perhaps Carroll Beaver owned a cotton gin and supplemented his income by ginning cotton for his neighbors. His livestock, including five horses, one mule, four cows, four oxen, eight cattle, thirty sheep, and one hundred swine, were valued at $1,000. During the previous year, the farm produced one hundred bushels of wheat, twenty-five bushels of rye, seven hundred fifty bushels of corn, twenty-six bales of ginned cotton, fifty pounds of wool, five bushels of peas and beans, twenty bushels of potatoes, fifty bushels of sweet potatoes, one hundred fifty pounds of butter, six bushels of grass seed, twelve pounds of beeswax, one hundred pounds of honey, $150 in home manufactured goods, and $225 in slaughtered animals.

The Civil War and Its Aftermath

West Tennessee was the focus of much significant military action throughout the Civil War. In general, the local citizenry were sympathetic to the Confederate cause and willingly contributed manpower, equipment, and agricultural products in large measure. However, based upon the secession vote, sentiment was more evenly divided in Henderson County. The Federal government expended considerable resources in its continuous efforts to conquer, subjugate, and pacify the local population. In April 1862, the climatic battle of Shiloh was fought in nearby Hardin County. The thunderous sounds from the furious battle could be heard in neighboring Henderson County.

On October 11, 1862, Confederate cavalry under the command of Nathan Bedford Forrest crossed the Tennessee River near Clifton and six days later attacked Colonel Robert Ingersol's union brigade at Lexington, the seat of Henderson County. Ingersol, defeated, surrendered his entire command to Forrest. Following the Lexington engagement, Forrest moved on to Trenton, Union City, and Kentucky destroying railroads vital to the support of General Grant in Mississippi. On his way back to the river crossing at Clifton, he was attacked on December 31, 1862, at nearby Parker's Crossroads by Union forces under Colonels Dunham and Fuller and General Sullivan. At first it appeared another victory for Forrest in the defeat of Dunham's forces, until Fuller and Sullivan brought their armies into the fight. The unequal number of men resulted in a Union victory, but Forrest and most of his men escaped.

No doubt the local citizenry regardless of their political sympathies, including Carroll Beaver and his family, were alarmed when the armed conflict found its way to Henderson County. One can only imagine how frightening it was at the time, not knowing whether the fighting would erupt on their own property, their own house would be damaged from gun fire or artillery, or their property commandeered for military use. One also wonders whether the passing soldiers confiscated livestock, commandeered food, or took other supplies from Carroll or his neighbors.

The county court at its October 1861 meeting levied a tax of ten cents on each $100 worth of merchandise offered for sale, ten cents on each $100 of spirits or fermented liquors, and $5 on any kind of show. These taxes were for the support of indigent families of Confederate volunteers. There was much opposition to the taxes and many refused to pay them, especially Union sympathizers. No record has been found to indicate whether the taxes ever were collected. In 1865, the federal government assessed Carroll Beaver for 362 acres of land valued at $2,550. The special tax was imposed in order to pay the huge costs incurred by the federal government in prosecuting the Civil War.

Lexington was occupied by federal troops for much of the war. Many locals chafed under the rule of martial law. As a slaveholder whose older sons and sons-in-law served in the Confederate Army, no doubt Carroll Beaver was a patriotic Confederate. He probably detested living under the oppressive thumb of the occupying enemy soldiers. His wife Martha N. Beaver died March 6, 1866 and was buried at the Middle Fork Cemetery. Her tombstone indicates that she was born September 9, 1822. No further record of her has been found.

The children of Carroll and Martha N. (_?_) Beaver were:

85. ix. James L., born circa 1855 in Henderson County, Tennessee.

86. x. Susan, born circa 1857 in Henderson County, Tennessee.

87. xi. Sarah F., born April 11, 1859 in Henderson County, Tennessee.

88. xii. John Carroll, born July 25, 1862 in Henderson County, Tennessee.

The town of Mifflin was laid out in 1828 by Colonel Priddy, who with James Bank opened a business there about that time. Before the Civil War, a dry goods store was operated there under the name of Beaver, Carver & Co. After the war, the firm was known as Beaver, Carver, Ashcroft & Co. Later, the store was operated as Beaver & Son. In the later decades of the century, Mifflin contained about one hundred inhabitants, a Methodist Church, and a school house.

Remarriage and Rebuilding

By 1870, Carroll had married a third time. Unfortunately, no official record of that marriage has survived. His third wife Jane was keeping house. She is listed as 35 years old and born in South Carolina. Carroll, eighteen years her senior, was still farming. He valued his real estate at $2,250 and his personal estate at $3,518. Only five of his children, James, Susan, Sarah, John, and Lula, were still at home. A young man named Robert Bomer also was living with them. Robert was just 13 years old and born in South Carolina. Perhaps Robert was Jane's son by a former marriage or a younger brother. Carroll's plantation, consisting of 120 acres of improved land and 200 acres of wooded land, was valued at $2,250. Apparently, Carroll had sold off a 40-acre parcel from his plantation tract. His livestock, valued at $893, consisted of two horses, three mules, three cows, three cattle, nine sheep, and twenty swine. With implements worth $125, the farm produced eighty bushels of winter wheat, five hundred bushels of corn, six bales of cotton, thirty pounds of wool, one hundred eighty pounds of butter, twenty pounds of honey, five pounds of beeswax and honey, $150 in home manufacture goods, and $150 in slaughtered animals. The total farm production for the previous year was valued at $1,280. The value of his personal property not associated with his plantation was significant and probably represents the inventory associated with his dry goods store.

Perhaps Sam Beaver, aged 45 years, who was living nearby, had been one of the slaves belonging to Carroll Beaver. Sam's wife Caroline was 30 years old. Their daughter Catha was 11 years old. All three were natives of Tennessee. There were two other black families in Henderson County with the surname Beaver, but their ages do not seem to agree with the slave schedules.

In 1877, Carroll Beaver sold a tract of land to L. P. Barham. Curiously the deed does not record the acreage nor the price paid for the land that was located in District No. 3. Carroll sold another tract on October 1, 1879. James Latham paid $465 for the 25 acres in District No. 3.

In 1880, Carroll Beaver was farming in Civil District No. 3. Carroll was 63 years old and born in Tennessee. He gave the birth place for both his parents as Georgia. His wife Jane was 44 years old. Both she and her parents were born in South Carolina. Living with them were their children, James, John, Lula, and Joseph, and a black female servant named Adaline McHenry. In addition to farming, Carroll held the local office of magistrate for several years. Just how long he served as magistrate is unclear.

The children of Carroll and Jane (?) Beaver were:

89. xiii. Lula A., born November 1, 1866 in Henderson County, Tennessee.

90. xiv. Joseph C, born circa 1872 in Henderson County, Tennessee.

The Twilight Years

In 1879, the Tennessee Legislature authorized the creation of Chester County from portions of Hardeman, Madison, Henderson, and McNairy Counties. Carroll found his farm and dry goods store in the new county. Carroll and his son James operated the dry goods store there in Mifflin as a partnership known as Beaver & Son. They sued James McDaniel to recover the money that they claimed McDaniel owed them. On November 2, 1886, Justice of the Peace C. R. Scarbro issued a summons ordering McDaniel to answer the plaintiff's claims. Unfortunately, no further record of that case has been located.

In 1882, the chancery court for the new county was organized and began proceedings. The chancery court heard suits for divorce among other proceedings. In 1882, a peculiar suit for divorce was pending before the court involving an estate of $23,000. It is the suit of Carroll Beaver against Nancy Denver for divorce on the grounds of alleged impotency on the part of the defendant. Unfortunately, the earliest records of the chancery court have not survived. Apparently, Carroll married Nancy Denver sometime after his third wife Jane died. It is disappointing that the records from this particular divorce suit have been lost. But married life must have appealed to Carroll for he married for a fifth time circa 1890.

On March 30, 1891, Carroll and his wife B. V. sold land to James E. Brown for $100. The land consisted of 24 acres formerly owned by James McDaniel together with a one-seventh interest in the Mrs. McDaniel dower land. Both Carroll and B. V. signed the deed with their initials. W. C. Brown sued Carroll Beaver and others in the County Court. On April 13, 1891, upon the motion of the defendant, the court allowed a copy of the petition to be filed in place of the original which had been destroyed by the courthouse fire on March 17, 1891. The case was continued on June 1, 1891, because of the absence of the complainant's attorney. On June 16, 1891, both parties appeared in court and by mutual consent asked the court to file two additional copies in the place of the original documents that had been destroyed in the fire. The two documents were the original bill of complaint and the bond. The court accepted the copies and ordered the defendants to file their answer by the first Monday of July. The case apparently involved the administration of the estate of James Beaver. His father Carroll served as administrator of the estate. The other defendants probably were the heirs of the estate. On August 11, 1891, the court ordered the clerk to ascertain what personal assets of the estate were received by Carroll Beaver as administrator, what disposition of the assets had been made by the administrator, what bona fide debts were outstanding against the estate, whether the remaining assets were sufficient to pay the outstanding debts, and what lands were owned by the estate.

On October 8, 1891, the case again was continued due to the absence of the complainant's attorney. On December 7, 1891, Clerk H. D. Franklin filed his report to the court. The clerk first itemized, then valued all of the personal property of the estate at $1,539.00. He also stated that all of the assets were in the hands of the administrator who had not yet paid any of the debts against the estate. The clerk valued the debts at just $177.88 and noted that the assets were sufficient to pay off and settle the debts. The clerk also itemized the real estate then belonging to the estate. After considering the matter, the court ordered Carroll Beaver to pay the debts and settle the estate. It also ordered the administrator to pay the expenses of the complainant. But, Carroll Beaver protested and requested the court to reconsider its decision. He claimed that the court had not considered certain evidence that most of the assets listed by the clerk were not the property of his son James. The court gave Carroll ten days to file his new evidence and post a bond. Unfortunately, no further record of the case has been found. Perhaps, Carroll reconsidered his chances and declined to file the new evidence and post an appeal bond. It may be just as likely that the parties settled the matter among themselves.

Sometime thereafter, Carroll moved to Dyer County to live with his son Riley Beaver. In 1900, both Carroll and his wife Beatrice were living there in his son's household. Carroll was not yet too old to work on the farm. He listed his occupation as farm laborer. The census lists Carroll as having been born in Tennessee in March 1816. His wife of ten years, also a native of Tennessee, was born April 1843. Beatrice only had one child then living, who is presumed to be the Edgar Taylor then residing in the same household.

Carroll Beaver died July 4, 1905 and was buried at the cemetery adjacent to Bowen Chapel in Dyer County. No probate was entered for his estate. No further record of his wife Beatrice has been found.

Conclusion

The story of Carroll Beaver and his family relatively is simple and straightforward and is fully supported by the few available records. Yet, many questions remain unanswered. Who were his five wives? Almost nothing is known about them save their first names and a few dates. What role, if any, did he play for the Confederacy during the Civil War? How difficult was life as a storekeeper and farmer during the federal occupation both during the war and during Reconstruction? What became of his slaves after their emancipation? When did Carroll become a storekeeper? Was his principal livelihood gained from farming or from his store? What became of his third wife Jane? When did she die and where was she buried? What became of his fourth wife Nancy Denver? Was Denver her maiden name or had she been married previously? What became of his last wife Beatrice? Did she remarry or remain a widow? When did she die and where was she buried? These and other questions will remain unanswered unless and until new records are uncovered.

The foregoing article presents all of the public and private records that we have found concerning Carroll Beaver, his five wives, and their family. The author is disappointed that he has never met any of his cousins from this particular branch of the Beaver family tree. We are indebted to the staff of many public and private institutions for their patience, cooperation, and assistance. Special mention is due the helpful staff at the Tennessee State Library and Archives, Henderson County Courthouse, Chester County Courthouse, and the very kind ladies at the Mid-Continent Public Library, Dallas Public Library, and the Clayton Library in Houston. Also, many thanks are due to our cousins Orpha Jewel Weaver and Billy B. Lassiter who generously shared their research with us. Hopefully, others will step forward with new information as well as suggestions for further research.

Did You Know?

The White Pass Trail of Klondike Gold Rush NHP earned infamy as the "Dead Horse Trail." Over 3,000 horses died there as inexperienced gold seekers struggled to reach the Klondike. "The horses died like mosquitoes in the first frost, and from Skagway to Bennett they rotted in heaps."

—Jack London

He married Malinda Postelle in Buncombe County, North Carolina about 1828; she was the daughter of Margret Chastain and Francis Postelle, originally from North Carolina and South Carolina. Malinda was born about 1809 and died in Weakley County, TN in December of 1879.

Francis Postelle, Malinda's father, was born in 1760, the son of Francis Postelle (ca. 1725 – ca. 1770) and Elizabeth Davis and the grandson of James Jacques Postelle (b. 1692 in Berkley County, S.C.) and his wife Judith. The younger Francis received a land grant of 40 acres on 2 July 1775 in Abbeville, South Carolina. He was still there in 1800, moving to Buncombe County, North Carolina several years later. In the 1810 census, his family included two sons [Thomas, born 1802, and James (H.D.), born 1803] and two daughters [Malinda, born 1809-10, and Matilda, born 1813]. The three youngest were born in North Carolina. Margret, their mother, was a widow by the time of the 1820 census of Buncombe County, where she is listed as Margy Bostill, over 45 years old, along with two males 10-16, one female under 10 (Matilda?), one female 10 to 16 (Malinda?) and one female 26-45. (2)

William Carroll and Malinda Postelle remained in North Carolina for several years after their marriage [a William Carroll appears in 1830 Buncombe County census records, possibly the father] William and Malinda were listed in Macon County records by 1830, and their three oldest children, Lucinda, William Albert and Mary America "Polly" were probably born there, although it is possible that she was born on their journey toward Tennessee. At some time between 1831 and 1835 William, Malinda and their small children made the long journey from North Carolina (Lincoln County and Macon County are mentioned in family histories as possible starting points) to Weakley County, Tennessee. It was a long trip by covered wagon, and they may have stopped along the way to farm and to lay in supplies for the journey.

According to the research of Louis McConnell, recorded in 1991 by Cathey Cox

Herman, a group of families started west together from Johnson [Johnston?] County, North Carolina, traveling through the Yadkin Valley toward the mountains and crossing at the Cumberland Gap:

"Melinda[Carroll] told Grandma that while she was cooking over a camp fire, the stars fell. We know now that on that night in 1832 it was Haley's Comet they saw in the night sky.

Grandma Carroll was a matriarch, stubborn and bossy. She ruled her family. This was a family trait for the next three generations. Moving west, they came to where the trails split. The trail north, "Boons Trace" was the better to travel. Some of the party wanted to go that way. Grandma Carroll started to Tennessee and that is where she was going. She may have had friends there. The party split, Ma took her family and went onto west Tennessee and the rest of the party went north, perhaps to Carroll Co. Kentucky.

"As we travel along, another child is born to Melinda and William, Martha Jane, born in Tennessee. Mary America (Polly) was surely born in North Carolina. William and Melinda traveled on west and found a nice piece of bottom land near the [north fork of the] Obion River in Weakley Co., Tennessee. They bought 250 acres, plus or minus. It was on the north bank of the Obion river, about 15 miles northeast of Dresden, in Weakley Co., Tennessee. The farm was on the county road that ran from the Kentucky border at Boydsville by way of Elm Tree to Palmersville and onto Dresden. They built a home on a ridge ½ mile from the Obion River. The house was surrounded by Beech trees, so they called it Beech Ridge." (3)

The younger Carroll children, born in Tennessee, were Martha Jane, Alfred Miles, Melvina, Paralee, Rosina, Daniel, and Araminta.

In the 1840 census of Weakley County, TN we find:

- 1 white male, 30-40 (Billy Carroll)
- 1 white female, 20-30 (Linda)
- 1 white male, 5-10 (William Albert)
- 1 white female, 10-15 (Lucinda)
- 2 white females, 5-10 (Molly and Martha Jane)
- 2 white females under 5 (Melvina and Paralee)

The Carroll family had three slaves in the year 1848; their names were Tutta (age 30), Harriet (age 3) and Calvin (age 8). (3) (5)

In the 1850 census, First Civil District, Weakley County:

W. Carroll, 47, m, farmer, born NC

Malinda, 40, keeping house, also born NC

William, 20, farmer, born NC

Mary, 18, "in school", born NC

Martha, 16, "in school," born TN

Malina[Melvina], 12, born TN, "in school"

Paralee, 10 (same); Alfred, 8 (same)

Rosina, 6; Daniel, 4, and Araminta, 4 months

William Carroll prepared his last will and testament May 9, 1857, and it was recorded on the first Monday in July of the same year. Malinda was appointed executrix, and his two sons-in-law, Robert Berton [Burton] of Graves County, Kentucky and William Webb of Weakley County, were to be executors after her death. (9) He died before October 27th, 1857, when an inventory of his personal property was taken [see Weakley County microfilm #000144, p. 460] and was buried on his property, according to references to "the place where William Carroll died" in Weakley County deeds from the year 1857, when the Carroll heirs sold their shares of the property to oldest brother William Albert. [see Weakley County microfilm #000162, book S, p. 344]. Weakley County Cemeteries (page 36, vol. 1) mentions a Carroll Cemetery, containing unmarked graves which date back to the midnineteenth century and located on or near the Carroll property, and it is likely that both William Carroll and Malinda Postelle Carroll are buried here, along with other relatives. (8)

Malinda and her younger children continued to live on the property for several years after William's death. She appears there in the 1860 census, with Alfred M. (17), Rosina (14) and Daniel W. (12). Her daughter, Melvina "Melle," husband Edward Thomas Bumpass and their family lived in another house on the Carroll property. At some time before the 1870 census

"Melinda and Melvina sold the farm and moved to Henry Co., Tennessee where they bought a farm approximately three miles east of Beech Ridge. Melinda and Melvina lived here until their deaths. Melvina died January 14, 1914 and is buried in Zion Hill Cemetery in Weakley County. Melinda, [who died in December, 1879] is buried near William on the old family farm in [Weakley County]Tennessee." (5)

LUGINDA

According to a Webb family history by James Blanks of Manchester, TN, Malinda was living with William and Polly Webb at the time of her death.(1) [This is likely, since Malinda is not listed in the 1870 Henry County census with Melvina and her family.]

Taxes were paid by the "W. Carrol heirs" on the 240 acres from 1858 through 1862, and again in 1866 by "Alfred Carrill, Albert Carrill and W.Carrill heirs." Shortly thereafter William Albert Carroll bought out his brothers and sisters, retaining the property until his departure for Texas and Oklahoma at the time of the Civil War.

Lucinda Carroll Burton

The oldest child of William and Malinda was Lucinda "Cindy" Carroll, who was born 27 July 1828 in Macon County, North Carolina. After coming west with her family, she married Robert Henderson Burton 17 February 1848 in Weakley County, TN. Robert was born in Tennessee in December of 1823, and, like most of the men in the Carroll family, was a farmer. Not long after their marriage, they moved just across the Tennessee line to the southern part of Graves County, Kentucky. The five children of Lucinda and Robert H. Burton, all born in Kentucky, were:

Missouri Elizabeth "Lizzy" Burton, born 1849, married Virgil Boyd; two sons.

Isabel Burton, b. 1855 (there are no records of her as an adult)

Zaphnath "Zeph" Burton, (23 May 1860 – d. 08 Feb 1921). m. Susan Wheeler (12 April 1866 – 04 Feb 1923) and with their large family lived in Graves Co. KY.

Alonzo "Lon" Burton, b. 1864, married Anna King

Edward Lee Burton, b. 1868, married Maybell Aaron Ray (1884-1950); there was a large family, and they also lived in Graves County, KY.

The Robert Burton family appears in Graves County, KY census records between 1850 and 1900. In 1850, we find Robert, Lucinda and daughter Missouri, age I, in District 1. The 1860 listing: Robert Burton, 36, farmer, born TN; Lucinda Burton, 33, born NC; and three children born in Kentucky: M.E. (daughter), 11, Isabel, 5, and Zaphnath, 1/12.

In 1870, the family was living in Lynnville [entry #177/184] and were listed with children Zephneth (10), Alonzo (6) and Edward L. (4) The 1880 census, also Lynnville, entry #230/ 277, shows Robert H. Burton, 46, farmer [an error: he was 56]; Lucinda, age 52, keeping house; and three sons, all listed as "works on farm": Zaphnath, 20, Lonzo [Alonzo]16, and Eddie, 14.

[note: in the 1870 Hopkins County, KY census, entry #44, a Missouri Burton, age 21, is living with John R. Burton (45, farmer) and his family, all born in North Carolina. Are these relatives of her father, Robert H. Burton? If so, they were recent arrivals in Kentucky, since their youngest child, born there, was only 2 years old.]

In 1900 census, Graves County, east half of District 2, entry #142/143:

Robert H. Burton, b. Dec. 1823, TN, age 76, widower

Ed L. Burton, b. 1868, age 32, also a farmer

Zephna Burton, b. May 1860, age 40, farmer with his wife Susan, b. April 1866, KY, age 34, and six children:

Maud (b. Mar 1885, age 15) Pearl, b. Aug 1892, age 7

Wm. F. (b. May 1887, age 13) Walter, b. Dec 1896, age 3

Robie H. (b. Oct 1888, age 11) Myrtle, b. July 1899, age 10/12

Lucinda Burton died 28 April 1899, and her husband, Robert H. Burton died after 1900. They are buried in Day Cemetery, Lynnville, Kentucky, in the south part of Graves County, as are son Zeph and wife Susan, sister Martha Jane Carroll and her husband, Williamson Frank Kendall.

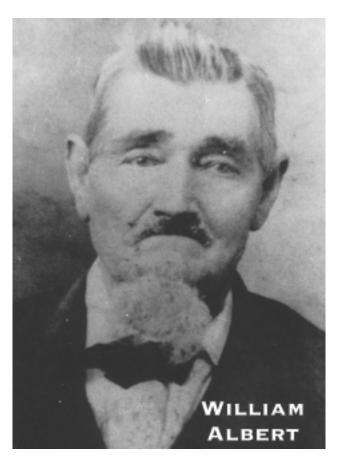

William Albert Carroll

The oldest son in the family of William Carroll and Malinda Postelle was William Albert "Ab" Carroll, born in December 1830 in Macon County, North Carolina. He came to Tennessee with his parents, and most likely was living there at the time of his marriage to Levinia Coleman of Henry County, TN on November 20, 1851. Ab's oldest child was Mary Ellen Carroll, born 23 Sept 1856 in North Carolina; she was married to John Stephenson August 22, 1878. Levinia must have died shortly after the birth of her daughter, since William Albert Carroll married Frances Faircloth on February 9, 1858; Frances was born about 1837. They appear in District 1, Weakley County in the 1860 census with Mary Ellen and her brothers Daniel Whitfield Carroll, born November 15, 1858, and James Carroll, born in 1860.

These two brothers, "Jim" and "Whit," followed their father and uncle west and lived in the community of Brock just west of Ardmore, Oklahoma, where they farmed, ran stores and a cotton gin. Many of their descendents remain in this area.

"Ab" Carroll must have gone to Oklahoma about 1865, perhaps after the death of Frances. Here he married Martha F. Crowder, who was a Cherokee Indian, on December 12, 1865. Their large family included Conda Cortez, known as "Wagon Yard," Edward A., Laura B., Fannie, Alice, Texas, Jennie and Katie. Information about their spouses and children is available in two Carroll family histories (see bibliography).

In the 1900 census of Oklahoma, Choctaw Nation (township 6, range 8), William A. Carroll (widower) is listed with his daughters Alice (b. Feb 1893, Texas), Texas (b. Oct 1888 in Indian Territory) and Katie (b. Nov 1894 in Indian Territory.) Their older brothers and sisters were grown and away from home at this time, and their mother, Martha Crowder, was no longer living.

William Albert Carroll was married to twenty-nine-year-old Jennie Elizabeth Dobbs from July 12, 1900 until his death on January 12, 1902. He is buried in Indian Territory, Durant, Bryan County, Oklahoma (6) According to Lavoice Harmon Carroll of Houston, 83 years old if still alive today, there are many descendents of Martha Crowder and William Albert Carroll still in this part of Oklahoma. (3)

Mary America "Polly" Carroll

The third child of William Carroll and Malinda Postelle was Mary America Carroll, referred to as either Molly or Polly in family records, and called Mary Ann in Webb family records. She was born in North Carolina (Wake County – Webb sources; Macon County – Carroll sources) on December 18, 1832 (1). Mary America"Polly" Carroll married William Webb on August 18, 1853 in Weakley Co. TN; he was born there on January 9, 1824, the oldest son of Amasa P. Webb (1802-1858) and Susan Buckley (1803-1877), both from Virginia.

William was a Mason and a farmer. In 1857, he was named as co-executor of the will of Polly's father, William Carroll, along with brother-in-law Robert Burton, to succeed Malinda as executors of his estate upon her death.

Polly and William Webb lived in the 5th Civil District of Weakley County, in the area around Palmersville, Tennessee. They had seven children, five of whom survived to adulthood, and all were born in Weakley County.

The oldest daughter, Mary Jane Webb, was born January 15, 1856. She married

William Lindsey Ward, son of Enoch Ward and Frances Allison of Obion County, on February 11 1875. He was born December 24, 1871. Mary Jane and William lived in Mississippi County in eastern Missouri for five or six years and later moved west to Springfield, Missouri. The three oldest children, William Enoch Ward, Thomas Hamilton Ward and Otis Beverly Ward, later took their father to San Antonio, Texas when he lost his health. William L. Ward died in Texas on November 27, 1897. Mary Jane died several years earlier in Springfield on April 2, 1888, not long after giving birth; four infant girls from this family are buried in Maple Park Cemetery in Springfield.

Amasa Thomas (or Thomas Amasa) Webb was born 30 October 1859. He was married on February 12, 1880 in Henry County, TN to Sara Casada Lafon, daughter of Amanuel M. Lafon (born SC) and Louise Jane Alexander (born NC). Sara was born February 26 1860 in Henry County and died December 18, 1930 (or 1931) at Hugo, Oklahoma. The family was in Weakley County in 1900, but had moved to Pushmataha County, Oklahoma, near Finley, by 1910. There were nine children.

The fourth child of William and Polly Webb was Robert Whitfield Webb, known as "Pone." He was born January 14, 1862 and died February 6, 1917 of lock jaw. Robert was married to Angie Jane Howard (1860-1931) in April, 1886, and they lived in Henry County, TN in a district adjacent to Weakley County. (1) Two of their four children survived to adulthood: Raymond Howard Webb (b. March 13, 1888) who married Flora Jewell Brite, and Grace Annette Webb (April 19, 1892 – December 9, 1928), who never married.

Solomon Webb was born August 13, 1865 and died in Rutherford, TN on April 12, 1942. He was a Mason, and was known as S.W. Webb as an adult, having added a middle initial to his name. S.W. married Sarah Leona Brite on November 8, 1891 in Weakley County. Leona was born June 14, 1868, the daughter of Lemuel DeWitt Brite and America Isabella Turner; she died August 16, 1936 in Rutherford. S.W. Webb and his family lived in Henry County near his brother, and they had six children (see pages 165-170 of Webb family history by James Blanks)

Edna Brooks Webb, a twin, was born September 9, 1869 and died September 15, 1938 in Weakley County; she is buried in Mt. Moriah Cemetery there. Her first husband was Stanley Clifton Williams, the son of Jim Williams and Sue McNeely. Stanley and Edna were married on September 22, 1886. He died four years later. They had one daughter, Ruby Pearl Williams. Edna remarried, first to Kent Wilkins and then, in 1904, to Tom Speight.

Carrie Webb, twin, was also born September 9, 1869; she died in infancy. The parents of this family, William and Polly Webb, are buried in Blooming Grove Primitive Baptist Church Cemetery in Weakley County. He died on November 21, 1895 and she lived much longer, until December 21, 1916.

BOOK REVIEWS

THE WATCHMAN AND OBSERVER, 1845-1855 by Brent H. Holcomb. 200 pages, clothbound, indexed. Published 2004. $28.50

Abstracts of death and marriage records from newspapers are important to the genealogist because many States did not keep these early records, or in some instances courthouses have burned. North and South Carolina did not keep death records until the 20th century, and South Carolina did not have marriage records until June 1. 1911. The Watchman and the Observer were Presbyterian newspapers with subscribers in Virginia, North & South Carolina, Alabama, Kentucky, Georgia, Mississippi and Tennessee, and other states as well. This book is a welcome addition for genealogical research in these southern states.

CHESTER COUNTY SOUTH CAROLINA WILL ABSTRACTS 1787-1838 (1776-1838) by Brent H. Holcomb. 220 pages, clothbound, indexed .Published 2006. $35.00.

Abstracts of wills for the colonial period for this area and prior to the border surveys, when some of this area was part of North Carolina, have been published previously. With the publication of this book, most abstracts of wills for Chester County through 1838 are now available. The abstracts in this book are from the Chester County estate record books A, B, C, D, E, F-1, F-2, G, H, I, J, K, L, M, N, and O. The book contains not only a personal name index, but a slave and place index for the researcher's convenience. When necessary, original wills have been consulted. Will abstracts contain a wealth of information such as the names of family members, property owned, places your ancestors lived and sometimes other information of interest to the researcher

The two books listed above may be ordered from Brent H. Holcomb, P.O. Box 21766, Columbia, SC 29221 or from his website: www.scmar.com. Shipping and handling is $4.00 for the first book and $1.50 for each additional book.

SMITH COUNTY TENNESSEE WILL BOOKS (3 VOLUMES) by Barbara Crumpton. Spiral bound, 8 ½ x 11, full name index; cost per volume shown below.

These abstracts of wills for Smith County, Tennessee are three more welcome publications by Barbara Crumpton. Material comes from various court documents dating from 1805 to 1823 (see titles of each volume).

Smith County, Tennessee was formed originally from Washington County which covered the whole State, then parts from Sumner County 1786-1799, and from Davidson County, 1783-1786. In 1801 Jackson County was formed from an eastern portion of Smith County, and the county was enlarged south to the Alabama line. In 1805 Smith County was limited to 625 square miles, and White County was formed in 1806. In 1842 and 1870 the counties of Macon and Trousdale were formed from Smith County, leaving the current limits of 360 square miles.

The Will Books of Smith County have been recopied and renumbered; will books from 1807 to 1812 are missing. Included are listings of testators, heirs, inventories, vendue sales and purchases, accounts due, estates, and a separate Guardianship Book showing wards, guardians, expenses, receipts, disbursements and witnesses.

The many changes in Smith County's boundaries make these abstracts of wills and guardian accounts more valuable to the researcher.

RECORDS OF THE MORAVIANS IN NORTH CAROLINA, VOLUME XIII, 1867-1876, edited by D. Daniel Crews & Lisa D. Bailey; indexed. North Carolina Office of Archives & History: November, 2006. $57.80, including tax and shipping.

Most genealogists, in addition to collecting dates, names, and places are interested in the history and day to day activities of their ancestors. This book gives the perfect opportunity for obtaining this information about some of your North Carolina ancestors.

For many years, the pastor of the Moravian church in Salem kept an almost daily diary of the activities of his congregation; these diaries were traditionally read on New Years Day.

In addition to the activities of the congregation, the diaries also contained comments on local and sometimes world-wide events.

Volume XIII of this series covers the era of the "carpetbaggers," the momentous period following the Civil War. These Moravian records include the challenges of blacks and whites following the end of slavery, the economy of the period, the growth of Salem and Winston, the incorporation of Kernersville, and the history of the coming of the railroad. In addition, there is a list of land and lots sold in Salem, births, baptisms, marriages, deaths and burials for the congregation. Many non-members, both black and white are included in these lists.

Volume XII of Moravian Records, covering the Civil War period from 1856-1866 is also available for $57.80.

HISPANIC CONFEDERATES, NEW THIRD EDITION, By John O'Donnell-Rosales. 154 pages, paperbound, The Clearfield Company, 2006. #9362; $19.50

Very few Hispanics who fought in the civil war owned slaves. Those early settlers, many of whom lived in Florida, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, had other reasons for joining the Confederate cause, such as property ownership, businesses and occupation. The names of 6,175 of these Hispanics are presented in alphabetical order, giving the individual's full name, rank and unit, and sometimes something about his tour of duty.

The various sources include lists of persons of Jewish descent whose ancestors were expelled from Spain in 1492; mestizos of Spanish/Native American ancestry; mulattoes of Spanish/African ancestry; soldiers of Asian descent whose forebears emigrated from the Philippines to Louisiana and along the Gulf of Mexico; Minorcans whose ancestors intermarried with Italians, Corsicans and Greeks who settled in Florida; and white Spaniards.

This interesting and informative book is the most comprehensive, and perhaps the only, list of Hispanic Confederates in print.

WEST TENNESSEE'S FORGOTTEN CHILDREN: APPRENTICES FROM 1821 TO 1889 by Alan N. Miller. 218 pages, indexed, paperbound, The Clearfield Company, 2006. #9982; $25.50

Apprenticeships have been known in the American Colonies, having evolved from England in the 16th Century. In America apprenticeships gradually became less a method of training in professions and crafts than a method whereby children who were likely to become indigent could be supported without cost to the local government. Many of these bound children were orphans; however, some were children whose parents or guardians wished the child to learn a useful trade.

The records of over 4,000 apprenticeships were taken from the records of nineteen counties in West Tennessee. Each record shows the name. date, age of apprentice, name of master, race and cause of apprenticeship. The apprentices are listed separately by county, with a full index in the back of the book. Counties covered are: Benton, Carroll, Crockett, Decatur, Dyer, Fayette, Gibson, Hardeman, Hardin, Haywood, Henry, Lake, Lauderdale, Madison, McNairy, Obion, Shelby, Tipton, and Weakley. Lists such as this are most valuable to the genealogist because these young people may not appear in any other source.

The previous two listings may be ordered from The Clearfield Co. 3600 Clipper Mill Rd. Suite 260, Baltimore, MD 21211; www.genealogical.com. Shipping and handling charges: $4.00 for the first book and $2.00 for each additional item. Phone: (410) 837-8171; fax (410) 752-8492. For Visa or Master Card orders only call toll-free 1-800-296-6687.

Google Earth Aids Genealogy

My teenagers introduced me to a new site that has added a spin to Genealogy. It is called Google Earth. There is a free version that is absolutely great. Google Earth combines satellite imagery, maps and the power of Google Search to put the world's geographic information at your fingertips. These pictures are not real time, but taken sometime within the last three years.

If you have an older version Computer, it may not download properly; but, all the newer computers should have no problems.

How will Google Earth assist in Genealogy? There are options of what you would like highlighted as you "fly by" cities you want to search. Some of these options are water areas, cemeteries, churches, parks, railroads, dining areas, hospitals, airports and much more. I particularly love the cemetery option! It gives the general location and names of the churches and cemeteries.

You also can input an address and Google Earth will find it for you. This is great for directions for those hard to find places that we all encounter when doing our research travels. The pictures can also be seen in 3-D!

My husband's family is from Sicily. How exciting it is to sit in my living room and view the Termini coast from my computer screen. I can now more than imagine the coast line, but see how the people lived so close to the seaside. I understand now why these ancestor's were mostly fishermen.

While reviewing Dick Eastman's online genealogy message he relates the following:

Using satellite images from Google Maps and Google Earth, an Italian computer programmer has stumbled upon the remains of an ancient villa. If this is true, then just imagine what else it can locate.

I know the implications of Google Earth will greatly assist genealogists. I am just beginning to learn its features, but definitely think it is a worthwhile download.

TENNESSEE ANCESTRY CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

The Tennessee Genealogical Society sponsors this program to recognize and honor the early settlers who helped shape the great state of Tennessee. Persons wishing to place their ancestors in this roll of honor are invited to submit an application with supporting documents or other evidence that proves their prime ancestor lived in Tennessee or the area that became Tennessee before 1880. Family charts or computer printouts are not considered sufficient proof.

Attractive hand-lettered certificates suitable for framing are issued each person whose application meets program qualifications. The certificates are inscribed with the prime ancestor's name, when and where he or she settled in Tennessee, and the applicant's name.

The application form for the certificate can be printed at our web site www.tngs.org or via snail mail from TNGS.

- 1. Printed Tennessee Census Indexes, 1820 1870
- 2. Printed Tennessee county records and histories
- 3. Any Family Histories that we have (and we gladly take donations of Family Histories.)
- 4. Printed early Tennessee marriage records

WE DO NOT search for living persons.

WE DO NOT, at the present time, search records after 1880/1900.

Please limit your request to one (1) surname. Be as specific as you possibly can. Unless you can furnish at least one full name, an approximate date, and/or the subject's Tennessee county or area of residency, it is doubtful that we will be able to help.

Ansearchin' News Policies

Contributions

Every member of TGS is welcome to submit unpublished material of genealogical value. Material from all Tennessee counties, pre-1900, is our priority. This includes diaries, letters, tombstone inscriptions, deeds, church records, military records, etc. If a photo is needed for an article, please send a photocopy.

We are a nonprofit organization and are unable to pay for contributions; however, we do acknowledge the contributor and give by-lines.

Queries

Members are entitled to one free query each year and may place additional queries for $3 each. (Nonmembers pay $5 each.) All queries must be related to Tennessee and should be 50 words or less; see current issue for correct form. Please submit queries typed or printed and furnish your name, address and telephone number or e-mail address.

Surname Index File Cards

Members are urged to send vital statistics of ancestors from any locality to be included in our Master Surname File. Please type or print information on a 3x5 index card. Information should include subject's surname, given name, middle name, dates of birth, marriage, death, parents, spouse, children, origin, state and county. Please include name, address and e-mail address on the back of the card.

Book Reviews

Books will be reviewed in Ansearchin' News if the book is donated to The Tennessee Genealogical Society. After a book is reviewed, it will become part of the RHGC library. All books will be reviewed in the order received.

Tennessee Ancestry Certificates

TGS sponsors this program to recognize and honor the settlers who came to Tennessee before 1880. To place your ancestors in this roll of honor, please request an application from Mrs. Kathryn T. Dickenson, Director of Certificates, at www.tngs.org or the address at the end of this page. Upon completion of the application, please return it along with supporting documents or other proof of your ancestor's residency, along with a $10 application fee. Attractive certificates suitable for framing are issued to each person whose application meets program qualifications. Certificates are inscribed with the prime ancestor's name, date and place of settlement in Tennessee along with the applicant's name. NOTE: TGS has published two volumes of Tennessee Settlers and Their Descendants compiled from information contained in these applications, and will publish a third volume when adequate numbers of additional applications are received.

Photo Gallery

In the future, Ansearchin' News will publish pre-1900 unidentified photos relating to Tennessee. Please send clear front and back photocopies along with any available background information you have. Advise us of the origin of the photo and any other information that might aid our search. Provide us with your name and address, and if you wish the photocopy returned, include a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Letters to The Editor

All letters to the editor should be addressed to Ann Kendall Ray. Please feel free to forward any comments or suggestions. In many instances throughout the quarterly, grammar and spelling are left verbatim in order to preserve the character and charm of the era.

Volunteering and Donations

TGS is strictly a nonprofit organization. We exist to keep the history of Tennessee and our ancestors alive. Volunteers run every aspect of the society, and if you would like to join the 'cause,' please contact us. There is no job too small — remember, Tennessee is the Volunteer State! If you wish to make a donation, please contact us, and remember that all contributions are tax deductible.
